Holiday Party Redux

The Annual CSR Christmas-Hanukah-Kwanza-Solstice Party was held last Saturday in Glendora and the afterglow still lingers. Organizer, Laura Pampu spared only some expense in putting the gala together, and had put together a fine assemblage of beer and wines to lubricate the psyches as guests arrived. After an hour of convivial jocularly, the throng found their seats (near the tables) and prepared for the feast of the year! Unfortunately, the meal was not prepared by Ms. Pampu and accordingly, and arguably, did not qualify as feast of the week. Although the potatoes were tasty, the chicken was a bit dry and uneventful. It appeared to be an un-sliced version of the appetizers. The desert was obviously one worth waiting for since it still hasn't been served as of press time.

Apres-meal activities soon moved on to the ever popular gift exchange. Numbers were drawn and guests either selected a random gift from the pile, or stole one of those already opened. While highly entertaining, the origins of this gifting game are unclear. Some speculate that the first players of the game were usually stuck taking home gifts of frankincense and myrrh.

The President's Gossip Page

Well Christmas will soon be here; are you ready? I know there does not seem to be enough hours in the day this time of the year. But I do love getting together with friends and family, and the warm feeling in the air. I must confess this is my favorite time of the year. Well, we have finished another year of “Operation Santa Clothes”, and we can be proud of what we have done for the children in our area. I personally find it very rewarding to be at K-Mart and help with the children. When they come out in their new outfit, and new shoes they are standing a little taller, and grinning from ear to ear when we tell them how great they look. A BIG thanks to all the volunteers that give their time to make this program work. I don't dare try to list names, because I would surly leave someone out, but you know who you are, and so do the children! We had a great Christmas dinner on Saturday, a big Thanks to Laura Pampu for making the arrangements. The gift exchange was fun, but I did lose count on how many times John Espinoza went back up to the table! Do you think we were picking on a new member by stealing his gifts, or did he just know how to pick em! Here are a few Christmas jokes: (If I put them in print, you can't boo me!:)

--Why does Scrooge love Rudolph?

Because every buck is dear to him.

--What do you get when you cross an archer with a gift-wraper?
Ribbon hood.

--Why is Christmas just like a day at the office?

You do all the work and the guy with the suit gets all the credit.

That's the best I can do, there are children present!

— Merry Christmas, Judy

Today's Program:

As is tradition, today will be our Annual Holiday Breakfast meeting and there probably are a bunch of kids (and spouses) on board. We'll be entertained by members of the Covina High School Choir and later by some big guy that never goes to Men's Wearhouse.

Clean Joke of the Week

A Swiss man, looking for directions, pulls up at a bus stop where two Americans are waiting.

"Entschuldigung, koennen Sie Deutsch sprechen?" he asks.

The two Americans just stare at him.

"Excusez-moi, parlez vous Francais?" he tries.

The two continue to stare.

"Parlare Italiano?" No response.

"Hablan ustedes Espanol?" Still nothing.

The Swiss guy drives off, extremely disgusted. The first American turns to the second and says, "Y'know, maybe we should learn a foreign language." "Why?" says the other. "That guy knew four languages and it didn't do him any good."

"Jerry's Jeopardy" Investigated

Jerry Gaynor, host and namesake of the ever popular game, has arbitrarily and surreptitiously changed the rules of that didactic diversion. Recently, winning players were shocked, bemused and stupefied that no funds were allocated for prizes in the game. Instead of reveling in well earned lucre, they were just asked to sit down. Suspiciously, Jerry has been wearing new suits lately.
